

They called me mad!!!!!!!The project blogs of Craig Strachan

Project 385 – Gitlab Service

At the request of a research group, I have set up a trial installation of Gitlab, a “web-based Git repository manager with wiki and issue tracking features” (to quote Wikipedia) within the School. It can be found at

<http://gitlab.inf.ed.ac.uk>

This is very much a work in progress at the moment and should be viewed as something which might disappear at short notice if operationally necessary, for instance if a major security issue is discovered with it. We will try our best to make sure this doesn't happen though!

If you would like to try Gitlab out, please submit a support ticket in the usual way. Any updates or additions to the service will be announced on this page.

They called me mad!!!!!!!Proudly powered by WordPress.