Finishing up git and gerrit

April 27, 2015

A little while ago, I made the confident assertion that Git and Gerrit would have achieved the status of full blown services by the end of April 2015. Given that it is now the 27th of April and I'm no further forward, this now seems unlikely but let us at least record what remains to be done to achieve completion

Overall

- Write blog article on changes

git

- Put final draft of git documentation on computing.help
- Move active repositories on git.inf to git2.inf
- Archive inactive repositories and inform users where possible that this has been done
- Move git2.inf to git.inf

gerrit

- Complete instructions for installing gerrit on DICE server. Test by installing latest version of gerrit and migrating service across to it
- Write watcher script to restart gerrit when it falls over

Project 272 – A Full Git and Gerrit Service

August 7, 2014

For many years now, the School of Informatics has offered a Git and Gerrit not-a-service, ie a service which is unsupported and may be withdrawn with little or no warning. Despite this, it has proved very popular. I was tasked with producing a full supported Git and Gerrit service.
